1 Tourist office: departure of the circuit. (Free guided tours from April to October every Monday at 4 pm and in July-August at 5:30 pm).

2 Orientation table: look at the most beautiful view of the Gulf of Saint-Tropez.

3 Leï Barri ("the Walls" in provençal): walk along the ramparts of the 13th and 14th centuries.

4 The private garden L'Hardy-Deno- nain, listed as "Remarkable", is open to the public from April 30 to October 15, free entrance (closed Thursday).

5 Orientation table of the Îles d'Or ("Golden Islands"): discover the view of the islands of Port-Cros, Bagaud, Levant and the Cavalaire Bay.

6 Place Hannibal de Châteauneuf is the heart of the new village (Marianne d'Or in 1995 and Philippe Rothier prize). It was designed by François Spoerry, the architect who designed Port-Grimaud.

7 Starting point of hiking trails (Boudes de l'Arlatane; Chemin de la Chapelle) and mini-stadium.

8-9 The Puits Saint-Jean-Baptiste (8) and the Puits Neuf (9) are traditional covered wells from Provence dating from the 17th century. They were dug about eight meters deep.

10 The town hall was built in 1584 above the common oven. Since then, it has hosted village council meetings. It used to be schools.

11 Rue de la Tasco ("Taxe street" in provençal) is the oldest street in the village. It shelters small typical and charming interior courtyards.

12 La Porte des Sarrazins ("Saracen gate") was opened to allow entry into the medieval fort in the 14th century.

13 Notre-Dame-de-l'Assomption church, completed in 1558, has a square bell tower which was once the watchtower.

Art expos - juillet à septembre

14 The Rue Longue ("Long Street") is lined with old doors, the oldest dates from 1422.

15 The Androuno ("Little Street" in provençal) is the narrowest street in the world, 29 cm wide.

16 The rues des Fabriques (Factory Street) and du Moulin à huile (Oil Mill Street) are reminiscent of the craft activity of the village.
